A high-contrast, black and white image of a hand holding a small, dark, curved object, possibly a piece of wood or a tool, against a light background. The image is grainy and appears to be a photocopy or a scan of a photograph. The hand is positioned at the top left, with the fingers gripping the object. The object is dark and curved, resembling a small branch or a piece of wood. The background is light and textured, with some faint, illegible markings.
